These printable templates, split up by age, use the concept of superheroes to encourage children to explore their own super powers, qualities and talents.

What they create could then be shared with their next teacher as a transition activity or kept to reflect on their strengths.

Age 4-5

Children to label a photo of themselves with their 'powers'.

Age 5-7

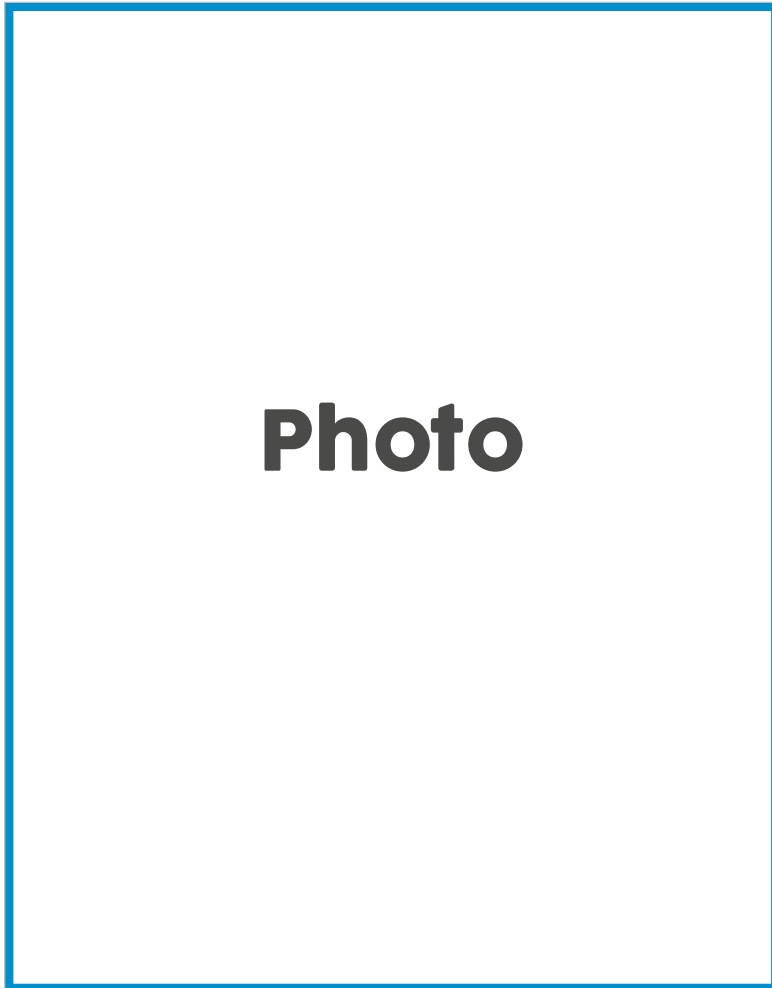

Children to draw themselves as a superhero and label or write sentences about their superhero qualities.

Age 7-11

Children to develop a character profile of their superhero self, listing five superhero qualities and writing a unique fact about themselves. As an extension, children can create a basic comic strip of their superhero self, describing their superhero qualities in basic story format.
